

Grow your international business

The further you venture into foreign markets, the more complex your business can become. But working across international borders and currencies doesn't have to come at the cost of simplicity and certainty.

Western Union Business Solutions helps clients minimise the impact of currency exposures on their bottom line, while facilitating international business through sophisticated online platforms and the support of specialist teams. As a leading provider of foreign exchange and international payment services, we help clients of all sizes compete on an international level.

Have you ever discovered the true cost of an international transaction as late as the time of payment, or afterwards?

You're not alone.

When transacting internationally, lack of cost certainty can make it difficult to maintain profit margins and manage cash flow.

Cash flow challenges can complicate business relationships and impede your ability to purchase products, while delayed and missing transactions can disrupt your supply chain.

In addition, most businesses don't have the resources to monitor currency markets or actively manage their foreign transactions.

At Western Union Business Solutions, we leverage many years of experience to provide clients with the visibility, certainty and efficiency they need to succeed in international business.

Dedicated Account Management

Call on your local client manager for strategic insight into payment processes, market movements and currency exposures.

Specialist Support

Leverage support from a range of specialist teams who work closely with clients to develop tailored risk management strategies, industry-specific solutions and ensure our payment platforms are configured to your unique requirements.

Online platforms

Easy-to-use online payment platforms that help you conduct international business 24/7, quickly and reliably.

One Solution, Global Scale

Make international payments in more than 130 currencies from a single payment platform, to help your business operate efficiently on a global scale. We have offices in 30 countries, so our clients are comfortable that we can replicate our service in a number of geographies as their business grows.
